

Lars Tunbjörk

Link Image proudly presents a new photographer in the collection – Lars Tunbjörk, whose Winter exhibition is currently showing at the Moderna Museet in Stockholm. Lars Tunbjörk is best known for his acutely perceptive images of contemporary human society. In the countryside, in the large cities, everywhere people are on the move, he has recorded our attempts at living civilized. His important and indomitable way of documenting people and their environments has led to several books and exhibitions. Among them The Country Beside Itself, the first book to reach out to a larger readership, Office/Kontor and now Winter, on show at the Moderna Museet in Stockholm until December 9.

In art contexts, Lars Tunbjörk is represented by the Brändström & Stene Gallery in Stockholm, Galerie VU in Paris and the Cohen Amador Gallery in New York. During the winter, Link Images archives will be receiving a wide selection of his images.

News:

In November, Link Image will be showing collections of photographs in two exhibitions. First out is a collection of 20 of our photographers at the Jonas Ingerstedt Gallery in Paris. This is a wide selection of contemporary Swedish photography that has never been shown in France. Opening in the end of November.

At The Photo Fair 2007 in Nacka Strand, Stockholm, Link Image will be showing the exhibition 6.x.linkimage in their own gallery at the fair. Photographs will be shown by Frederik Lieberath, Jimmy Backius, Robert Nettare, Gerry Johansson, Gunnar Smoliansky and Hans Gedda. Opening November 16.
